

Introducing Free Skill Tracking and Verification for TYPO3 Association Members

Silver, Gold, and Platinum members of the TYPO3 Association now receive credits and a free business account at SkillDisplay.eu to manage, track and verify internal skills and optimize preparation for certifications.

Baar, Switzerland, 13 April 2021

SkillDisplay is a web portal that allows learners world-wide to claim verification for their skills. In addition to creating business-internal skill sets, SkillDisplay offers official skill sets and learning paths based on industry certifications, such as those of TYPO3 and scrum.org.

SkillDisplay was created with funding from the European Union's Eramus+ program (2017–2020) and in collaboration with the TYPO3 Association. In addition to skill sets related to TYPO3, the web portal covers areas such as web technologies, project management (waterfall), and scrum.

Access to Business Partner Features

Eligible TYPO3 Association members now gain free access to the following SkillDisplay business partner features:

Public organization overview: A public showcase page with the opportunity to highlight organization expertise by presenting a summary of the skills available.

Custom career paths: Access to all public skills (TYPO3, web technologies, project management methodologies, etc.) for use in custom career paths for employees.

Custom skills: Full Visual Skill Editor access for the creation of custom skills, visible only within your own organization.

One-time verification credits: A welcome package of initial credits will be gifted to members based on their membership status. They can use these to confirm the skills of their employees by assigning the company's logo.

Monthly verification credits based on the T3A membership level (Silver: 10 credits, Gold: 45 credits, Platinum: 135 credits). One credit is equivalent to one skill verification for one person.

There are no hidden costs for eligible members, as usage beyond the free credit limit must be unlocked by the organization manager.

Organization statistics module: Evaluate in-house competencies, including raw data access for custom statistics.

API access for custom Integrations: Custom integration possibilities via the SkillDisplay API (Learning Management Systems, Project Management Software, Task Boards, etc).

Available Today

Eligible members will be able to log in at my.skilldisplay.eu using their existing my.typo3.org user account starting today. The connected organization will also be configured automatically.

TYPO3 Association members looking for personalized guidance and additional advice on improving and adapting their in-house training and skill management can purchase courses and workshops, as well as quick-start webinars.
